

My name is Lenny Samuel.
My friends call me Len.
I'm a detective. I work in Los Angeles. I'm an L.A. detective.

Everybody in Los Angeles is busy.
But Len isn't busy. He's sitting in his office. He's waiting. He has no work today. Nothing is happening.

A comic book illustration showing a man in a tan suit, white shirt, red bow tie, and straw hat with a red band. He is holding a silver handgun in his right hand and pointing it towards a man in a grey suit and fedora hat. The man in the grey suit is seen from the side, looking towards the man with the gun. They are in an office setting with a window in the background showing a green landscape. A desk with a green folder and papers is in the foreground.

Then a man comes into the office.
Len doesn't know him. The man is short and dark. He's about forty years old. He's wearing a suit.

The man is holding a gun.
The gun is pointing at Len.

I'm Frank. Come with me.
Mr Blane wants to speak to you.

I won't go with you, Frank.
I don't like Mr Blane.
I don't want to speak to him.

Frank is a tough man. He laughs.
He hits Len on the head. He hits Len hard. Len's eyes close. Len falls down. He falls onto the floor of the office.

Len wakes up. He opens his eyes.
He's sitting in a big chair.
The room is very warm. There are lots of plants in the room.

Where am I?

Hello, Mr Samuel.
Welcome to my house.

An old man is talking and smiling.
He's Mr Blane. He's a very rich man.
He's also a very bad man.

You're going to help me,
Mr Samuel. You're going to find my daughter.

THE YOUNG ONES

SCHOOL

I don't want to go home. I'm happy here. I like working at this school. The $100 000 is for the school. My father is a bad man. These papers show he is a criminal. Take the papers to the police.

You stay here. Nobody will find you. I'll take the papers to the police. Good luck.

It's Friday. Len is in Los Angeles.
He's at the police station. Frank and Blane are at the police station too.

These papers show that you're a criminal, Blane.

I'm tired. I have no money.
But I have an exciting job.
And I like to help people.
That's why I'm an L.A. detective.
